

Capture.

Up to within a week ago Thomas Girton had the largest brood of chickens hereabouts. Night after night they disappeared half a dozen at a time. Mr. Girton supposed that chicken thieves were around. He lay in wait and finally captured the thief who proved to be a large dog belonging in the neighborhood.